

Suspected Chinese Mystery Snail

The photos below are of a suspected Chinese Mystery Snail found in Crescent Lake recently. It has not yet been confirmed, but appears to resemble photos of the Chinese Mystery Snail. It is considered an invasive species and was most likely introduced into Crescent Lake from a boat coming from another lake.

